The Salters Supply Company has just received a carload of flour.

Quite a number of farmers were plowing last week and some were stacking stocks.

J. W. Spence, Saturday evening churning up the muddy streets with his Overland.

Mr. Corral Martin of Brainard was a week-end visitor, getting his cigar supply. D. G. King, who is pained him, we don't know in what capacity.

A CHANCE FOR DEEP FEED
Hythe Milling Company has an overstock of shorts and will trade it for wheat, any grade, at the grade price. This is a chance for dairy men and pig men to get cheap feed.

HAS AN UNCOMMON FEAR
Mr. Robert Reison, one of Edmonton's leading prospectors, was in town.

ALONG THE WAPITI
The United Church, Nov. 21.—Everything looks like a success at the Wapiti. The ferry is again in its element, and the children are all living across the stream.

Everything is played out in the past week, except those who are hauling coal and who are not playing. Baseball is again being played and we hear the rabbits are running here and there.

J. B. again put his foot on what we thought was a pretty good remark, in last week's column. What J. B. said was "This November 14 is the earliest yet I have seen yet in this country."

Matt and Jeff, who are occupying Maclean's place this winter, left today for a few days. Jack across the river.

Johnny George and Henry came home a week ago with bells on and settled down for the winter.

This is the night—Friday the 24th—the date of the Anniversary of the ladies in the schoolhouse, Millarston. Ladies please bring lunch; gentlemen some silver. Perceive the schoolhouse. Everybody welcome and everybody come.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Campbell are settled on their quarter section west of Pipestone Creek. Quite a number of their friends from here held a bee some two weeks ago at the house, at which time Mr. Campbell was well and a good time was had by all. All the while Mr. Campbell was very successful, and as neither one of them is afraid of the cold, they are settling in here.

The quilt made by the W. I. to be raffled at some time, for the Christmas tree, to augment the funds to buy presents, etc., is a beauty. In the last yet, and that's saying quite a mouthful. It will be on exhibition at the District store, the Pipestone Creek store. Whoever wins this quilt will be extremely lucky, as you could not get such a one. It is filled with the purest cotton, and there is a sack of five Pikes four on the same ticket. Tickets are on sale at the Pipestone Creek store, and by the ladies of the W. I. at the rate of 10 cents each. Think of it—a chance to get a $12 quilt for a dime.

Edgar John returned home last week.

Mrs. A. K. Watts arrived home last Friday after a two weeks visit in the Prairie with her mother and sister, Mrs. C. B. and Miss Joyce Caver.

REMEMBRANCE DAY IS FITTINGLY OBSERVED BY EAST OF SMOKY BRANCH

DEBOLT, Nov. 16.—The Rev. R. J. Waterman of Grande Prairie conducted a service at the school here and was met by a splendid turnout of members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion and to the great pleasure of the Legionnaires, quite a big congregation of the general public. The church was filled to capacity.

Mr. Waterman gave us an extremely good service and a very inspiring and thoughtful address. He took his text from the Bible, "Remember the dead." He told the things which lead to Peace.

Miss Warren had very tastefully decorated the school blackboard so that it would be appropriate to the occasion. We have already expressed our thanks, but do so again.

Mrs. Perkins and Miss Warren sang as a full choir. The hymns were "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Jesus Christ, the Son of God." Mr. Tom Starkey, Walter Peterson, Ellis Turner, Harry Burgess and others in the choir.

The singing of the hymns and the sermon were much appreciated and the service felt very grateful to them for their assistance.

The service was a very successful one. Thanks Mr. Waterman very much for the effort he made to ensure his being here and for the service.

Mr. Waterman was the guest, during his visit of Comrade and President of the Grande Prairie branch of the Canadian Legion.

ARMISTICE DANCE AT DEBOLT SUCCESSFUL DESPITE RAINS

WHEN 2500 SPOUSES TOOK ACTIVE PART IN 'FESTIVAL OF MARRIAGE'

To celebrate the new Fascist "Festival of Marriage" in Italy recently, more than 2,000 couples were married simultaneously. In Rome itself 750 couples attended nuptial mass at St. Mary of All Angels, and afterwards paraded the streets to the Fascist headquarters, where wedding gifts from Mussolini were presented. Our picture shows the 750 couples during the ceremony.

DEJECTED CUBAN TERRORIST SENTENCED

Crushed by the severity of his sentence, Clemente Carreras, who was chief of the palace police in the Machado reign of terror, is pictured in the Havana court after he had heard himself sentenced to 12 years and 6 months in the Isle of Pines penal settlement. He is the first of Machado's former aides to receive a long prison sentence.

A MOB SCENE IN PALESTINE

Our picture shows British police in Jerusalem dispersing a crowd attempting to force a way out of the Old City by the New Gate. The Arabs were armed with firearms, sticks, stones and other missiles, and they endeavored to break through the police cordon. In the struggle a number of Arabs and police were injured. The recent demonstration by the Arabs were in protest of the sudden influx of Jewish immigrants into Palestine.

GIFTS OF GOVERNMENTS

Amongst the most important contributions of the Dominion and Provincial Governments of Canada to the development of agriculture throughout the country is the maintenance of agricultural experimental stations, where research work in both plant and animal breeding and adaptation to climatic conditions is carried on. Already this work has had a profound effect in the improvement of Canadian agriculture, the introduction of the various early growing wheats being but one example out of many.

The total quantity of Argentine and African corn received in the Canadian elevators during 1931-32 amounted to 6,255,259 bushels.

ENGLISH CRICKET CAPTAIN'S GREAT WELCOME

Our picture, taken in Bombay, shows D. B. Jardine, captain of the British Marylebone Cricket Club, after he had been welcomed by the Cricket Board of Control in India. The team received a great ovation at the start of the tour through India and the British captain is wearing a garland of flowers.

ENGLAND GOES IN FOR STREAMLINED TRANSPORT VEHICLES

Our picture was taken at the Commercial Motor Transport Exhibition at Olympia, London, known as "The Four Man's Motor Show," and shows a new streamlined forward control transport bus. It is two years since this show was held and during the interval public services vehicles have improved out of all recognition. In many respects mechanical and coachwork refinements have gone a stage further than motor cars.

NEW POWER BY RADIO MAY TURN THE WORLD'S WHEELS

Announcement by Nikola Tesla, celebrated inventor and physicist, that he has developed a device to harness and utilize cosmic energy, opens a wonderful field of possibilities and promises to revolutionize the world's industry. The new power, derived from cosmic rays emanating from the sun, could be used to operate ships, trains, factories and airplanes, or anything else driven by machinery—and all without the use of coal, oil, gas or other established fuel. The energy could be transmitted by wireless from a central plant to any spot on the globe, on land, at sea or in the air. Thus a plane could fly, a ship could sail, and trains could run without refueling just as long as they held together.

BOOK TALK

Poor Splendid Wings. The Rossetti and Their Circle, by Frances Winwar.

Frances Winwar, the authors of this book, was born in Toronto, N.Y. At the age of eight she was taken to the United States, where she was educated, finally to pass out of Columbia University, having studied and mastered seven languages. She translated "The Decameron" and wrote three historical novels. Her latest work, won for her the $5,000 prize offered by the Atlantic Monthly Press and Little, Brown and Company. Eight hundred manuscripts were submitted for the contest, which was closed on March 1, 1933.

The story deals with the Rossettis and their friends and contemporaries—Mills, Ruskin, Holman Hunt, Whistler, Swinburne, and a host of other famous names and brilliant personalities. Among the Rossettis themselves there are two outstanding characters—Gabriel and Christina. And affecting those two very closely there is the formative growth, and finally the dissolution of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. Formed with the idea of breaking away from the artificialities that had crept into painting, although it did not last for very long, it was the first of its kind.

Brotherhood, like most revolutionary movements, had a lasting effect on art.

As Jack Canada's "School of Reven," the Pre-Raphaelites introduced new ideas of new technique and handling the critics of that time.

Mrs. Winwar has written for her readers not only a book beautifully phrased and carefully constructed but a living picture of men and women who are inclined to be looked upon as a name, remembered for the day of school examinations.

Valiant Duet. By P. C. Wren.

A new French Legion story from the author of "Bene Geste" which was closed on March 1, 1933.

At the Capitol

"200 IN BUDAPEST"

You will tremble with terror with this child in imminent peril of animal ferocity.

Your pulses will quicken as this courageous youth endures into an arena filled with fighting jungle beasts to save him.

You will live a lifetime in a minute with the girl he loves as she looks on in tortured minutes of suspense.

You will be thrilled as you have never been thrilled before by the terrific climax of "200 in Budapest," a double feature program. The first scene is a thrilling and a convincing one. The Capitol, featuring Loretta Young and Gene Raymond.

"THE MYSTERIOUS RIDER"

Zane Grey's "The Mysterious Rider," latest of the noted author's exciting Western action romances to reach the screen, will be shown at the Capitol, Monday, next week, with Kent Taylor, Lena Andre, Irving Pichel, and Patrick and Warren Hymer in the leading parts.

"AFTER THE BALL"

This is a dramatic British picture. Directed by Milton Krass. A thrilling comedy of a gay couple and a diplomat's wife. Starring Gladys Hulette and Paul Robeson. Marie Burke and Jack Adrienne.

Wedding Bells

BEATTIE-WRIGHT

A very interesting event in the marriage of Miss Beattie Wright and Jack Beattie, which took place at Goodfear, Alberta, on Tuesday, November 21, at 10:30 a.m.

The bride was Miss Beattie Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Wright, of the home of the bride by the Rev. Father McGuire and Laid. Standing up with the bride were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Halmey, brother-in-law and sister, respectively, of the bride.

Following the wedding all sat down to a delicious repast and both bride and bridegroom responded to congratulations with brief and appropriate speeches.

Mr. Beattie is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Beattie, now living in London, England. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wright, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, and Cadillac, Saskatchewan.

Senior guests at the wedding were Mr. Wm. Lyons, "Uncle Ben," the uncle of the bride, and Mr. Grey, father of the bride.

Also present were Miss J. Hickey and Mr. Maurice Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, Mr. H. E. Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. St. George's Ranch; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gooding (another brother-in-law and sister of the bride) and family.

Miss Harriet Wright, a cousin sister of the bride.

What One Girl Wore:

By Betty Brownlee

Did you ever just look at people's shoes as you walked along the street? Nine times out of ten when you notice a first foot you find a smartly dressed woman. Your shoes should be chosen with as much care as every other item in your wardrobe.

They should be of a color and fabric that go with the rest of your costume. The heels should be of the right height. For instance and we sometimes see this is not good taste to wear a French-heeled shoe with a long skirt. You wouldn't think of wearing your walking shoes with a dress and you shouldn't wear your evening pumps on the street.

The few shoes are lovely. We show today in our shop a charming shoe for informal occasions. It is trimmed with shiny bands of silver and there are intricate cut-outs used at the front and sides.

Now there will this year you will find nothing smarter than the trendiest sketched in the center, set off with perforations and trimming of black patent leather, it fastens with a button. It is a very comfortable leather walking shoe.

For general afternoon wear in town, ladies wear in popularity. The shoe made also is practical since it can be worn with every color. The model

Gleanings of Interest To the Women Folks

By THE GLEANER

ARE WE ALL CHEATS?

George Godwin says we are all cheats. We possess in our minds a self-conceit, the proclamation of our beliefs, is one of the commonest.

There is but one test. As a man believes, so he acts. How many of us are honest because we fear the risk of detection, because we have not the courage to lie? What we really are, instantly dishonest?

How can we overcome the habit of self-deception? The only method is to practice a simple mental exercise. It is to take some action which has made us rather pleased with ourselves and examine the reasons that led us to do it. Ask ourselves: "When I did that, did I fairly hope for a future return?" Did I want to impress another with a sense of my manliness? Did I hope he would speak to others of my kindness? Shall I tell of it myself for self-glorification?

The process involves looking in the mirror. It is one of the marvels of human personality that there exists one part of it that stands apart and considers the whole and forms judgment upon it. Character is the child of the process of honest thinking in regard to oneself. The real aim should be to act with integrity, which merely means wholeness. And the path to wholeness is the one indicated by Socrates. It is know your self.

Every action we perform seems to be at integrity, which merely means wholeness. And the path to wholeness is the one indicated by Socrates. It is know your self.

This picture will be shown on Thursday and Saturday of next week.

LADIES' AID BAZAR

VERY SUCCESSFUL

The Ladies' Aid bazaar, held in the basement of the United Church on Saturday the 18th, was even more successful than their last year's one. The sewing table, which had a wonderful assortment of attractive offer, was cleared of its stock, and the tables were full most of the time.

The C. G. L. T. groups held a very successful candy sale and fish peddle, which added to the excitement. The bazaaring sale was also very well patronized.

NEWCOMERS PLEASE

AT PLAY FIRST

I am sure all who were at the Capitol Theatre on Friday the 17th thoroughly enjoyed the Play Fest put on by the Good Companions Dramatic Society. All three plays were excellent. We know of all how well Mr. Patterson, Mr. Fowler, Larry Calks, Mr. and Mrs. Chappel, Miss Bromley, Mr. R. Watson, and Mr. Hoberman can act, but the newcomers to Grande Prairie's stage played so immensely. The Vaughan especially being a real find.
